PROF Y K ALAGH MEMORIAL LECTURE

Market-friendly governance key: Economist Nitin Desai calls for new way to manage priorities

Ritu Sharma
Ahmedabad, May 29

INDIA MUST move beyond the liberalisation policies of 1991 to address modern economic challenges such as geopolitical fragmentation and the politicisation of trade, economist Nitin Desai said in Ahmedabad on Friday evening.

Sustained growth requires greater investment in research and development and a reduction in government dependency, Desai said. There is also a need to bolster state capacity, and to develop a decentralised, region-based strategy on agriculture that moves beyond minimum price supports for wheat and rice to embrace co-operatives and diverse crops like milk, he said.

Desai, chairman of the Governing Council of The Energy and Resources Institute (TERI) New Delhi, was speaking on India's manufacturing and agriculture sectors at the first Prof Y K Alagh Memorial lecture organised by the Sardar Patel Institute of Economic and Social Research (SPIESR).

In his lecture titled 'Policy Priorities in a Changing World', Desai spotlighted the critical stagnation in India's manufacturing sector, and stressed on the need to transition from a business-friendly environment to a market-friendly one, and on empowering new entrepreneurs rather than the established conglomerates.

"Our problem today is that... the manufacturing sector has become excessively dependent on the government. Our government policy also is business-oriented, not market-oriented," Desai said. "We had a time when entrepreneurship was strongly controlled under licensing. That is gone. But you still have a degree of control exercised by the government on what people will invest in, partly because some of them are investing in infrastructure, which is subject to government control, but partly because of the government's programmes like PLI..." he said.

Nitin Desai, chairman of the Governing Council of The Energy and Resources Institute, New Delhi, in Ahmedabad on Friday. EXPRESS

The "power of the conglomerates" in India was very strong, Desai said. He contrasted India's experience with that of China's, stating that the latter's huge manufacturing growth came entirely from newcomers.

"Because the old pre-communist Chinese companies were gone, all the people who came up when they liberalised the system were newcomers, mostly technologists. This is a dimension we should keep in mind," he said.

Conglomerates were important for economic growth, Desai said, "but they are not the people you should focus on in terms of government assistance. That should be focussed very strongly on the new enterprises... And this is not happening in India. We have a business-friendly government, but we do not have a market-friendly government. And we need to have a market-friendly government if we want fast growth of manufacturing."

The Prime Minister's call for austerity on the part of the people was not enough, Desai said. "We have an immediate problem, which is connected with the war which is going on in the Gulf. And the Prime Minister...[has] called for significant austerity by the people of India. I would argue that relying on people's austerity and [on] people doing things differently, is not enough if the government doesn't do something," he said.

Steps like travelling by Metro instead of by car would not "save the country", Desai said. "...I think we need an approach to development, which takes into account the fact that we are living in a market economy. And that impact of that depends on what happens in the market," he said.

The current reality is that of a system that is highly politicised in many ways, Desai said. "We really have to have a bilateral agreement with everybody. There's no point in relying on what the rules or multilateral rules require you to do. The very fact that you today have different tax tariffs with different countries is a departure from the most favoured nation rule, which was there in the WTO."

"The reason we need to develop a policy change is not just a Gulf war, not just the politicisation, which is coming from the USA, but to recognise that in certain areas, we have not been successful enough in ensuring growth," Desai said.

A comparison between India's and China's manufacturing makes this more than obvious, he said. "This is the reason why we ought to be focussing on trying to get a new way of managing."

3 killed as SUV driven by Botad DySP rams into four in Anand

Senior police officer booked for rash and negligent driving

Express News Service
Vadodara, May 29

ANAND DISTRICT police on Thursday booked a serving Deputy Superintendent of Police (DySP) Botad district, A A Saiyad, on charges of causing death due to rash and negligent driving after three persons were killed and another one injured when Saiyad allegedly crashed his speeding Sports Utility Vehicle into a group of persons standing beside a sugarcane juice stall at a highway hotel in Adas village of Anand district.

The incident occurred on Thursday afternoon when Saiyad was returning from Vadodara and driving his vehicle near the Adas bridge on the Vadodara-Ahmedabad highway. The DySP's red-coloured SUV reportedly lost control and crashed into four persons, who were making a pit stop at a hotel while returning from Ahmeda-bad after visiting a temple near Vadodara.

Police said that the victims - originally from Banswara in Rajasthan and currently residing in Maninagar, Ahmedabad - had hired two cars for the pilgrimage. The group had stopped near Rajvi Hotel close to Adas bridge for lunch. After the meal, three men and a woman were standing near the roadside when the speeding vehicle suddenly swerved towards them. The impact was such that the sugarcane crusher was dragged nearly 40 feet from the spot and completely shattered.

Two persons died on the spot in the collision, while two others sustained serious injuries and were rushed to a nearby hospital for treatment. Police Inspector J K Dodiya from Vasad police station told The Indian Express that a third victim succumbed to injuries on Friday.

Dodiya said, "The DySP was driving the car himself... He has also been injured in the crash. When the crash occurred, he got out of the vehicle and approached the hotel owner for a phone to call the police control room as his phone had been damaged in the accident. He also called the ambulance and had revealed his identity while stating that he had been involved in an accident."

Dodiya said that as per the provisions of the Bharatiya Nyay Sanhita, since Saiyad did not flee the spot of the accident, the offence would classify as a bailable one. "We have lodged the FIR and the process is accordingly. Since he was injured, the doctors at Anand Community Health Center referred him to SSG hospital in Vadodara, where he was undergoing treatment... We will record his statement once he recovers."

Dodiya said, "The DySP was

Eight lion cubs died of suspected Babesia, no deaths in 2 days: Govt

Express News Service
Ahmedabad, May 29

GUJARAT FOREST and Environment Minister Arjun Modhwadia on Friday said that eight lion cubs have died of suspected Babesia parasitic infection in the Gir region and that reports of their samples, sent to Gujarat Biotechnology Research Center, are expected in three-four days.

Modhwadia added that there has been no such suspected death of lions in the past two days.

Modhwadia said, "Deaths of eight lion cubs have come to light. And whether the deaths have occurred owing to Babesia or for some other reason, its confirmation can be done only after getting the medical report."

Babesia, a parasitic disease, spreads through ticks and can cause weakness, coughing and nasal discharge in affected animals.

The deaths of the big cat cubs due to suspected Babesia infection have been reported in the revenue areas outside the Gir sanctuary, particularly in Gir Gadhadra of Gir Somnath and Babra Kot of Amreli districts, he said.

Forest department has taken preventive measures to curb the spread of any infection, says minister Arjun Modhwadia. ANI

Earlier, on May 26, Modhwadia had said that two lion cubs had died of suspected infection caused by Babesia parasite. Following the suspected deaths of the parasitic infection, Modhwadia said the forest department has started taking all the preventing measures to check spread of any infection.

Lions in the 10-km area from where the suspected deaths were reported have been isolated.

In 2018, eleven lions had died in Gujarat within a month due to a combination of canine distemper virus and protozoal infection. As per a census conducted last year, Gujarat had 891 Asiatic lions.
